INTRODUCTORY.

N the following pages an attempt has been made to trace not only the ancestors of the Rev. Henry Clarke and his wife Catherine Pendleton, but also to piece together such scanty references to these people as are found in contemporary records. While the result is disappointing, still it is possible, perhaps, to gain a glimpse of their lives, their troubles and successes.

The Rev. Henry Clarke was descended from Joseph Clarke, one of four brothers who emigrated from England and settled in Rhode Island. A genealogical table shows his relationship with the Hubbards, Babcocks and others. The letter press under these names gives such facts as have been collected regarding the individuals named in the table.

Catherine Pendleton Clarke was descended from Major Brian Pendleton, and the same plan has been followed in tracing her ancestry as in that of her husband.

To avoid confusion as well as for completeness, there have been added such facts regarding the brothers Carew, Thomas and John Clarke as could be gathered; but nothing in regard to the public life of the latter, which belongs properly to Rhode Island history.

The latter part of this book includes the genealogy proper of the Rev. Henry Clarke and his wife and of such of their descendants as could be brought together. It is much to be regretted that the genealogy is not more complete.

Introductory

It is a pleasure to express thanks for all the kindness extended to the compiler, not only by members of the family, but from all those to whom he applied. Much valuable information and many pleasant acquaintances have been the result.

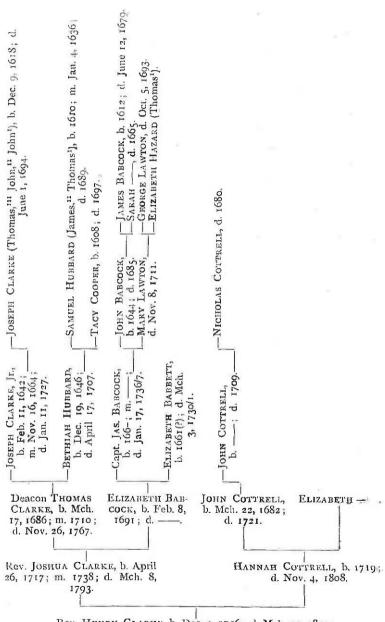

That there are errors and omissions, none know better than the compiler, and he requests that such, when discovered, be kindly sent to him.

THE CLARKE BROTHERS, IMMIGRANTS.

England, Joseph was the direct ancestor of the Rev. Henry Clarke. The following brief notices of the others — Carew, Thomas and John will be of interest to the family.

I. CAREW CLARKE (Thomas, "I John," John, born Febr'y 3, 1602; died after 1679; married — Datre; died July 13, 1658; no children.

His birth is recorded by his father: "Carew Clarke, my son, the third of Febry. 1602, being Thursday, about fair day light; baptized the 17th Febry. Wallops Thursday, 3d day of the New Moon, 1602." — Was living in Ruffum, Suffolk Co., England, at the time of his wife's death, July 13, 1658, and is supposed to have emigrated to this country after that time.

He had by the terms of his brother John's will (proved May 17, 1676), his maintenance for life, "he to live in house while my wife keeps house in it, and they can remain in comfort together, and if he move, to have £16 a year."

Inhabitant of Aquedneck Island, May 20, 1638. "Admitted freeman of this Body Politike, Newport, Dec. 17, 1639." Present at the Court of Elections March 12, 1640; made Freeman March 17, 1641; he was one of the original members of the First Baptist Church, formed in 1644. In 1655 he was admitted freeman of the Colony.

In 1663 (Dec. 3), he and wife Jane sold 3 acres and house at Portsmouth, R. I. He died in Newport, R. I., at the house of his brother John. His will, which was dated July 28, 1674, proved Dec. 18th, named executors Obadiah Holmes and John Salmon; he gives to brother Joseph all lands and housings on this island. To Cousin William Clarke, son of brother Joseph, all land on Conanicut Island. To brother Joseph's wife Margaret, all household stuff; to brother Joseph's children, except William, the stock on farm which William now enjoys, when his time is out; to brother Joseph's children equally, "all that is due from brother John Clarke for services and tendance when he was gone to England twelve years, looking to and providing for his stock and wintering them upon my own land; in which time was reared twenty horse kine and about nine score sheep, and a hundred acres land I purchased at Conanicut, and a quarter share at Misquamicut, and ten acres at Applegates Neck upon this island, for which I deserve £20 a year."

III. John Clarke, Physician (Thomas, 111 John, 12 John, 12 John), born Oct. 8, 1609; died April 20, 1676; married first, Elizabeth Harges, daughter of John Harges, Wreslingworth Manor, Bedfordshire, Eng.; married second, Feb. 1, 1671, Jane Fletcher, a widow, who died April 19, 1672, by whom he had a daughter, born Feb. 14, 1672/3; died May 15, 1673. He married third, Sarah, the widow of Nicholas Davis, who died about 1692.

He emigrated with his brothers Thomas and Joseph. He says: "In the year'37 I left my native land, and in the ninth moneth of the same (I through mercy) arived at Boston."* Nov. 20, 1637, he was disarmed with others who were sympathizers with the Rev. John Wheelwright and Mrs. Anne Hutchinson, and being "surprised that they were not able... to live peaceably together, and as there was plenty of land, proposed that [his party] go far enough a-field to be by themselves;" [the party spent the winter in Exeter, N. H.]* "but the winter following proved so cold that we were forced in the spring towards the South, having Long Island and Delaware Bay in our eie... so to Providence we came;" at Roger Williams' suggestion, and with the consent of Plymouth, settlement was made at Pocasset, on Aquedneck Island, Mch. 7, 1638.

April 28, 1639, he (as Elder) and eight others signed a compact "to propagate a plantation in the midst of the island" at Newport. By the "following December a church had been organized and (Dr.) Clarke was its preacher, but was soon 'dissolved." †

In 1640 he is credited with owning 148 acres of land. Admitted freeman Mch. 17, 1641. In 1644 he became pastor of the First Baptist Church of Newport, then organized,‡ and continued so to his death; 1649-50, served as Assistant; 1649-51 he was Treasurer of the four towns. In 1655 made freeman of the Colony.

On July 2, 1651, having gone to Lynn, Mass., together with Obadiah Holmes and John Crandall as representatives of the church at Newport, to visit Wm. Witter, "a brother in the church who by reason of his advanced age, could not undertake so great a journey," Dr. Clarke was arrested for preaching and sent to prison at Boston, where he was sentenced "without producing either accusers, witness, jury, law of God or man" to pay a fine of £20 or else be whipped and to remain in prison till paid, for this meeting, and "at other times preaching and blaspheming." His fine was paid by friends without his knowledge.

[‡] In 1648 there were fifteen members in full communion; among them were Thomas and Joseph Clarke and Thomas Hubbard.

Rhode Island and Connecticut during his life, John Clarke and Roger Williams, as agents of the Colony, sailed in November to England, to obtain its vacation; they were successful (Oct. 2, 1652), and Williams returned in 1654, leaving Dr. Clarke as agent of the Colony in England, where he remained until after the granting of the second Charter by Charles II, in 1663, supporting himself while there by his own exertions and a mortgage on his house, given to Richard Dean of London. He returned in the spring of 1664; was chosen Deputy 1664, '65, '66, '67, '68, '70, and Deputy Governor 1669 and '71. In 1652, while in England, he published his "Ill News from New England," and in 1655 (Aug. 31), a Concordance of the Scriptures. In the same year he was made freeman of the Colony.

Nov. 24, 1663, the Assembly, "In consideration of his great pains, labour and travail with much faithfulness exercised for above twelve years in behalf of this Colony in England," voted him, on receipt of the King's gracious letters, Nov. 24, 1663, the thanks of the Colony and a gratuity of £100, and that all his expenses since his absence be paid, and that "he be saved harmless in his estate." An audit of his accounts next year showed £343 due him.

In 1666 foreclosure was threatened upon his house, and the Assembly assumed this debt (which was finally paid in 1699), and extraordinary efforts were made to collect taxes levied for payment of the amount due Mr. Clarke. In 1673 he claimed £450 still due him. In 1676 his executors claimed there was £100 still due, and a committee was appointed to look into the matter.

He died April 20, 1676, in Newport, and was buried between his two wives in the southeast corner of his orchard, on the west side of Tanner street.

His will, dated April 20, 1676, proved May 17, names friends Wm. Weeden, Philip Smith, Richard Bailey executors. Desired to be buried beside his wives, Elizabeth and Jane. Gives to brother Joseph Clarke and his children by first wife (except John), to Cousin Fish, wife of Samuel Fish and her children, to Cousin Mary Saunders, wife of Tobias Saunders and her children the produce of sales of land on Conanicut Island; in said division Brother Joseph and Cousins Fish and Saunders to have double share. To each of Brother Joseph's children by second wife one shilling. To Cousin John, son of Joseph by first wife, six acres adjoining land of Benedict Arnold.

To Executors in trust 30 acres and dwelling house and farm of 150 acres, for support of wife Sarah for life, she to dwell in house and have improvement of stock, also two beds and biggest trunk. To his wife's children by former marriage, money and land. To brother Carew Clarke, his maintenance for life. To Katherine Salmon, wife of John Salmon, an ewe sheep. To Richard Bailey, a concordance and lexicon to it, written by myself, being the fruit of several years' study, a Hebrew Bible and rest of books. To friend Marc Lucas, 50 shillings a year in provision, for life. At decease of wife, trustees to distribute and dispose of profits of farm and marsh for relief and bringing up children into learning. To cousin John Clarke, dwelling house and 30 acres. trustee dies the others to choose a third, "an understanding person fearing the Lord." To each executor or trustee, 30 shillings, annually for ever.

The estate was appraised at £1080. 12s. The bequest for the "relief and bringing up children into learning" having been diverted in 1719, a statute was passed to punish such breach of trust.

"His memory is deserving of lasting honor for his efforts towards establishing the first government in the world which gave to all civil and religious liberty." To no man except Roger Williams, is Rhode Island more indebted than to him. "No character of New England is of purer fame."*

deputy from Westerly 1753-4 and '57 (Jan.); called "Major" in records in 1754, and thereafter; Aug. 24, 1756, chosen deacon, but April 5, 1757, "declared that under the present circumstances of sundry affairs which render him uneasy, he had not freedom at present to accept." * At a town meeting held at his house April 4, 1757, to complete the incorporation of Hopkinton, R. I., he was chosen treasurer and one of the rate-makers; chosen April 20, 1757, first deputy, and also in 1758-66; chosen town clerk 1760-67; town treasurer 1767-81; moderator 1769, '70, '72-75, '77 and '78; member of the Board of Trustees of Brown University 1764-89.

He was elected elder of the Seventh Day Baptist church, March 10, 1767; after much hesitation, April 26, 1768, he accepted† same; "according Elder Maxson with one of ye Brethren went to Hopkinton & on May 29th, 1768, Elder Maxson preached a sermon on 'Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed.' Elder Maxson prayed very fervently & laid hands on Bro. Clarke in conjunction with Elder Hiscox; then Elder Maxson gave a solemn charge and the right hand of fellowship. The whole was carried on with great solemnity & the utmost Deacencey & good order."‡

June 24, 1771, chosen treasurer of the church. The church increased during his ministry 395. He signed the Patriotic Test at Hopkinton, Sept. 19, 1776.

He was buried in the Clarke burial ground. His will, dated July 31, 1792, gives wife the use and profits of the south part of his home farm, also half of the house, "ye west part," and "as much of the other Buildings as she shall need & call for. SAMUEL HUBBARD.

HOMAS' HUBBARD, grandfather of Samuel, was a gentleman residing at Hornden-on-the-Hill, in Essex, England, "of good estate and great estimation," and "zealous and religious in the true service of God." Discovered by an informer to Bishop Bonner, he was seized, imprisoned and burned May 26, 1555. It is believed that the story of Thomas Highbed in Fox's Book of Martyrs, refers to him.

James" Hubbard, the father of the immigrant, was a plain yeoman of Mendelsham (80 miles northwest of London); he married Naomi Cocke, daughter of Thomas Cocke of New Ipswich; he was also a "suspect" but escaped persecution.* His Testament (printed in 1549) "which he hid in his bedstraw lest it should be found and burned in Queen Mary's days," was brought to this country by Samuel Hubbard, and is now probably in the Library of Alfred University, at Alfred Centre, N. Y.

Samuel' Hubbard (James," Thomas') was born in Mendelsham, Suffolk county, England, 1610; died 1689; married Jan. 4, 1636, by Mr. Ludlow, Tacy Cooper, born 1608; died 1697.

Samuel, b. in Newport, Nov. 30, 1649; d. Jan. 20, 1670.

Samuel Hubbard writes of himself: "Such was the pleasure of Jehovab towards me, I was born of good parents, my mother brought me up in the fear of the Lord in Mendelsham in catechising me & in hearing choise ministers." came in October, 1633, to Salem, Mass.; went to Watertown in 1634, where he says he "joined to the Church by giving account of my faith." In October, 1635, with a party of about one hundred, he started to march through the wilderness to the Connecticut valley; winter coming on before they reached their destination they suffered much from exposure, and insufficient food. Mr. Hubbard remained at Windsor during the winter, where he married Tacy Cooper, who had come to Dorchester, June 9, 1634, and was one of the same party. In 1636, shortly after their marriage, they went to Wethersfield, Conn., but removed to Springfield, Mass., May 10, 1639, in search of peace; here a church was soon gathered, and he says: "I gave acct. of my faith" and that there were "five men in all . . . my wife soon added."

To escape persecution under the harsh laws of Massachusetts they again moved May 10, 1647, to Fairfield, Conn., where "God having enlightened both, but mostly my wife, into His holy ordinance of baptizing only of visible believers, & being very zealous for it, she was mostly struck at & answered two times publickly, where I was also said to be as bad as she, and sore threatened with imprisonment to Hartford jail, if not to renounce it or to remove; that Scripture came into our minds, if they persecute you in one place, flee to another, and so we did; 2 day October, 1648, we went for Rhode Island, & arrived there 12 day. I and my wife upon our manifestation of our faith were baptized by broth John Clarke, 3 day Nov., 1648."

Aug. 7, 1651, he was sent to Boston to visit Rev. John Clarke and others imprisoned there. He was admitted freeman of Newport, 1655. Oct. 1, 1657, "Brother Obadiah Holmes and I went to the Dutch & Gravesend & to Jameca & to Flushing & to Hamsted & to Cowbay... came home 15 Nov." In 1664 he was chosen to serve as general solicitor in case of the inability of Mr. Turner. He writes: "My wife took up the keeping of the Lord's holy Seventh Day Sabbath the 10th day March, 1665. I took it up 1 day April, 1665; our daughter Ruth, 25 Oct., 1666; Rachel, Jany. 15 day, 1666; Bethiah, Feb. 1666; our son Joseph Clarke, 23 Feb., 1666." "I went to Boston public dispute with those baptized there 7 day April, 1668."

In July, 1668, in a letter to a cousin in London he writes:*
"The Lord having given me in this wilderness, a good, dilligent, careful, painful and very loving wife: we thro' Mercy live comfortably, praised be God, as coheirs together, of one mind in the Lord, travelling thro' this wilderness to our heavenly Sion, knowing we are pilgrims as our fathers were; & good portion being content there with. A good house as with us judged, & 25 acres of ground fenced in, & four cows which give milk, one young heifer and three calves, & a very good mare; a trade, a carpenter & health to follow it, and my wife very diligent & painful; praised be God. This is my joy and crown, in humility I speak of it, for God's Glory, I trust all, both sons in law and daughters are in visible order in general: but in especial manner my son Clarke and my three daughters, with my wife and about 14 walk in the observation of God's holy sanctified 7 day Sabbath, with much comfort and liberty, for so we & all ever had and yet have in this Colony.

"We entered into a church covnt [Seventh Day Baptist] the 23d day of Dec. 1671, viz: Wm. Hiscox, Stephen Mumford, Samuel Hubbard, Roger Baster, sister Hubbard, sister Mumford, sister Rachel Langworthy, &c." Their church was not formed without a departure by their former associates from that spirit of toleration and "soul liberty" which Roger Williams claimed; for the members who united on Dec. 23, had been excommunicated Dec. 7, when the Rev. Mr. Holmes preached against their doctrine of Seventh-day observance, and even declared "they had left Christ, and gone after Moses."* There is extant a letter from Roger Williams to Samuel Hubbard, in which he argues against the position taken by the latter, and cites various texts against his views; but it is written in a very different spirit from that shown by the Newport church, and recognizes the conscientious motives which actuated Hubbard.† "Bro' Hiscox and I send by this Church to N. London and Westerly, 7 day Mar. 1675," and again March, 1677/8 and 1686.

Nov., 1676, he writes: "In the midst of these troubles of the war [King Philip's] Lieut. Joseph Torrey, Elder of Mr. Clarke's Church, having one daughter living at Squamicut and his wife being there, he said unto me 'Come, let us send a boat to Squamicut, my all is there, and part of yours.' We send a boat, and his wife, his daughter and son in law and all their children and my two daughters, and their children [one had eight, the other three, with an apprentice boy] all came... My son Clarke came afterwards before winter, and my other daughter's husband in the spring, and they have all been at my house to this day." Feb. 26, 1676, he writes a nephew at Rye: "I bless my God, my condition is comfortable, & I am very well contented with knowing it is

Sept. 2, 1677, he writes: "Truly Children for the present I am not altogether beset wth thots (as its judged from Satan) I have been in very sore exercise, ever since br. Hiscox came to ys & a week before, occasiond by a sudden sentence of the Ch. declaring yt I have not the gift of prophesying publickly in the church tho' hereto fore judged so by those brethn of the Old Ch. Yet by most here & encouraged in it, was so sorely set on, that I was horribly tempted to deny all, yet kept; but sorely harried. I pray be silent in this matter for the presnt..."

June 29, 1678, he writes: "Last winter the Lord visited me with a very sore cough as long as strength & breath did last, oft times 5 times together only a little respite: my dear wife oft took her farewell of me, my dear brethren watched with me in their terms. Major Cranston I sent for — he said he judged none help or hope for sure, but for present refreshment he gave me a small vial of spirits which I took, and had some sleep but my cough rather increased." He was visited by the church "which drew into the other room agreeing to seek Gods face for me poor one." "... The next day I would have gone to town to give public praise, but was advised not to go," etc.

In 1683 Mr. Hubbard went by water to visit friends at Rye, returning by Fairfield, Milford, New Haven, Guilford, Lyme, New London and Westerly, arriving home after six weeks' absence, Sept. 25. In a letter dated May 23, 1684, he says: "What marvelous rich grace... hath made known his holy sabbath to such poor worms: first to my wife, I next, the first settlers or planters in N. E. (one brother and sister came over with the practice of it.)"

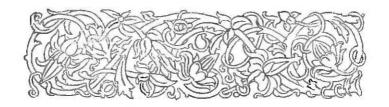

Dec. 19, 1686, he writes: "My wife and I counted up this year 1686: My wife a creature 78 years, a convert 62 years, married 50 years and independent & joined to a church 52 years, a baptist 38 years, a Sabbath Keeper 21 years. I a creature 76 years, a convert 60 years and independent & joined to a church 52 years, a baptist 38 years, a sabbath keeper 21 years. We are by rich grace born up & adorned with rich mercies above many, as to have all my three daughters in the same faith and order, and 2 of their husbands and 2 of my granddaughters and their husbands also with us. O praise the Lord for his goodness endures for ever! Not to us, not to us poor creatures. These may be my last lines unto you, farewell."

BETHIAH² HUBBARD (Samuel¹) was born Dec. 19, 1646, in Springfield, Mass.; died April 17, 1707; married Nov. 16, 1664, in Newport, R. I., by James Barker, assistant, Joseph Clarke, born Feb. 11, 1642, in Newport, R. I.; died Jan. 11, 1727, in Westerly, R. I. (See page 19).

Baptized Sept. 29, 1661. "Bro' Hiscox laid hands on our daughter Bethiah Clarke 15th day Sept. 1675;" received in the church 10th day January, 1676.

JAMES BABCOCK.

HILE the ancestral home of James Babcock has not been ascertained, the family not improbably came hither from the southern part of Suffolk, or the northern part of Essex county, England, where the name is often found in the half century previous to the emigration; it appears on the Parish Register of St. Mary's Church, in Great Bentley, Tendring Hundred, Essex, where it is spelled Badcocke, and that form occasionally occurs in some branches of the American family as late as the earlier half of the eighteenth century. In some instances it is written Bodcocke. That the Babcocks, the Hubbards and their friends probably came from neighboring towns in Suffolk and Essex, may perhaps be also inferred from the fact that the Coopers (one of whom married Samuel Hubbard, as mentioned above) were very numerous in the Parish of St. Nicholas, Harwich (Tendring Hundred, Essex), and also in the town of Ipswich (Suffolk), only a few miles north, for many years before and after the emigration.

JAMES' BABCOCK, the earliest of the line of whom we have knowledge, was born in England, in 1612; died June 12, 1679, in Stonington, R. I.; he married first, Sarah ——, died —, 1665; married second, Elizabeth ——; she married for her second husband, Sept. 22, 1679, William Johnson.

Children, by first wife:

James, 2 b. —, 1641; d. — 1698; m. Jane Brown, dau. of Nicholas Brown.

2 John, b. -, 1644; d. -, 1685; m. Mary Lawton.

Job, b. —; d. —, 1718; m. Jane Crandall, dau. of John Crandall.

Mary, b. --; d. --, 1747; m. Wm. Champlin.

Children, by second wife:

Nathaniel, b. about 1666; d. Jan. 2, 1719.

Joseph, b. —, 1670; m. 1st, April 13, 1696, Dorothy Key.; m. 2d, Jan. 1, 1729, Hannah Coats.

Elizabeth, b. -; m. May 3, 1706, Benjamin Sumner.

He emigrated from England, and the first reference found shows that he was a blacksmith at Portsmouth, R. I., and admitted inhabitant of that place in 1642. At a town meeting Oct. 5, 1643, he was one of two ordered to examine all arms and see that they were in good repair,* and at the same time he was granted 10 acres of land at first brook. The General Court at Newport, May 23, 1650, ordered that he and others shall "mende and make all locks, stockes, and pieces that by order of the warden of each Towne shall be presented to them," for suitable pay.† Admitted freeman of Newport, 1655. Chosen commissioner 1656-58 and '59. Dec. 10, 1657, was granted 10 acres. March 22, 1660/1 joined in "Articles of Agreement" of the purchasers of Misquamicut (Westerly), R. I., and on Feb. 22, 1661/2, agreed with others to "go and abide at Misquamicut, to be there till November next," for which each was to be allowed £5;‡ he settled on the Connecticut side of the Pawcatuck river, about half way between Westerly and Watch Hill.

March 1, 1664, he petitioned the General Court from Westerly, concerning the riotous behavior of the Souther-town men, and the destruction of his property.

Feb. 10, 1664/5, the Council at Hartford, in consequence of the complaint made by Pawcatuck Indians of the conduct of James Babcock and other inhabitants of Westerly, in demanding rent and threatening to drive them from their land, ordered the former to forbear.* In 1665 he sold Thomas Fish, for £50, land and dwelling house at Portsmouth.

In 1667, he and others claimed land on the Pawcatuck river, whereupon the Pequot Indians appealed to the Connecticut Governor to settle matters. He was made freeman of the Colony Oct. 28, 1668. While constable he was arrested June 18, 1670, and brought before the Commissioners of Connecticut for arresting an officer of that Colony† and sent to the Hartford jail, but afterward released on bail.

May 16, 1671, he was arrested for refusing, as constable, to summon the people to attend a meeting of the Court of Justices then being held at Westerly, Deputy John Clarke presiding.‡ He was received as a member of the Seventh Day Baptist church, March 2, 1678.§

He died at Stonington, Conn., having made a verbal will, giving to son Job, all smith tools; to daughter Mary Champlin, a cow; to William Champlin's oldest daughter, a cow calf; to son Joseph, all housings and land when 21, and to wife Elizabeth the rest of his estate for bringing up three children he had by her. Wife Elizabeth administratrix.

Inventory, £61, 1s.; house and 20 acres of land, £30; bellows, anvil, vise and smith tools, £5; 2 cows, 2 yearlings, 3 calves, £11; 7 small swine, 2 beds, 3 spinning wheels, pair cards, 2 chests, churn, cradle, etc.

JOHN² BABCOCK (James¹), born 1644; this is the date of his birth as usually given, but James Babcock, Sen., made a deposition in 1670, wherein he states his son John's age as 28; this would indicate he was born about 1642; died 1685; married Mary, daughter of George and Elizabeth (Hazard) Lawton. She died Nov. 8, 1711, having married (2) Erasmus Babbitt.

Children (order uncertain):

Tradition and family records say that John Babcock, failing to get the consent of her father to his marriage, eloped, in 1658, with Mary Lawton, "into the wilderness, one night by boat from Newport, and coasting along the shore, landed on the present site of the town (Westerly), were welcomed by the Indians,"* and that he was the first white man who settled there.

May 18, 1669, he was made freeman of the Colony; June 12, 1678, chosen conservator of the peace; Sept. 17, 1679, took the oath of allegiance; deputy from Westerly 1682-84. He died without leaving a will.

June 4, 1685, Inventory taken, amounting to £700, 3s., viz.: 43 steers; 33 cows; 8 working oxen; 9 three-year-old steers; 9 two-year-old cattle; 21 yearlings; 52 horses, mares and colts; 3 riding horses; old ambling horse; horse called "James;" 100 sheep, 50 lambs, 76 swine, ox, 2 bulls; 8 beds; silver cup; a dozen pewter platters; a dozen porringers; 2 flagons; warming pan; 3 canoes; 2 steel traps; negro boy (£20); 2 Indian men and girl (£30); a steer, mare, 4 more horses, &c.

GEORGE LAWTON.

HE Lawtons were an "armorial" family, if we may so infer from a seal used by some of its members in the early days of the Colony. This seal bore as its device a demi-fox, salient, with the motto on a ribbon, LIBERTE TOUTE

ENTIERE. The English home of the emigrant was in Yorkshire. The first of the name of whom we have knowledge, George Lawton, arrived in New England in 1634, and is found in Rhode Island a few years later. He died Oct. 5, 1693, and was interred in his orchard at Portsmouth, R. I.; he married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas and Martha (——) Hazard, and is supposed to have had the following children:

Isabel, b. —; d. April 1, 1730; m. Samuel Albro. John, b. —; d. —, 1678; m. Mary Boomer.

2 Mary, b. ——; d. Nov. 8, 1711; m. John² Babcock.

George, b. —; d. Sept. 1, 1697; m. —, 1677, Naomi Hunt.

Robert, b. —; d. Jan. 25, 1706; m. —, 1681, Mary Wodell.

Susanna, b. --; d. Dec. 9, 1712; m. Thomas Cornell.

Ruth, b. ——; d. April 15, 1726; m. Feb. 10, 1681, William Wodell.

Mercy, b. —; d. —, 1685; m. Jan. 19, 1682, James Tripp., Job, b. —; d. Oct. 8, 1697.

Elizabeth, b. -; d. -, 1724; m. Robert Carr.

In 1638, he was admitted an inhabitant of Aquidneck. April 30, 1639, he was one of the incorporators of Portsmouth, R. I. Jan. 25, 1648, he was given a grant of forty acres of land; 1648, member of the Court of Trials; 1655, freeman; 1665, '72, '75, '76, '79 and '80, deputy to the Assembly. March 2, 1672, he sold to Richard Smith, merchant, of Newport, twenty-four acres on Conanicut Island.

April 4, 1676, the Assembly voted "That in these trouble-some times and straights in this Colony," they desired the company and counsel at their next session of George Lawton and fifteen others. May 2, 1676, he and John Easton send to Providence with all convenient speed to determine whether garrisons shall be kept there at the expense of the Colony. (Three garrisons, with twenty men each, were ordered for one month.)

1680, he and two others purchased of Freelove Arnold, for £3, 10s., a bell "to call together the Assembly, Courts of Law," etc., having been so empowered. 1680 to 1690, Assistant. Jan. 2, 1688, he deeded to son Robert, for love, all his real and personal property. Jan. 30, 1690, he, with five other Assistants, wrote a congratulatory letter to William and Mary, detailing the state of affairs of the Colony.

BRIAN PENDLETON.

NE of the earliest settlers in Watertown, Mass., was Major Brian Pendleton, who arrived in New England in 1634. He was born in England in 1599. The family name occurs there in Lancaster County. He died probably in 1681, as his will was probated in August of that year, from which we learn that he married Eleanor —, who survived him.

Children:

James,² b. about 1620, in England.
 Mary, b. —; m. Seth Fletcher; they probably had an only son, Pendleton³ Fletcher.*
 Joseph (probably) b. —.
 Caleb (probably) b. —.

He was selectman of Watertown, 1635-7; deputy to the General Court of Massachusetts Bay, 1636-8. He removed to Sudbury in 1638, and was one of the petitioners in that year for a land grant at that place, "as they were straightened for meadow land;" he served as deputy from that town. May 13, 1640, the General Court desired him to train the company at Sudbury. In 1646 he was a member of the Artillery company. In 1648 he was on a committee to lay out the Winthrop farm, and later had much business in surveying new tracts of land and in settling bounds and highways in different sections. He returned to Watertown in 1648, and was deputy to the General Court the same year, but sold his property there and removed to Strawberry Bank (Portsmouth, N. H.). He afterwards established a large fishing and trading post at Kennebunkport, Me.

Oct. 23, 1652, with Simon Bradstreet and others, he was chosen by the General Court of Massachusetts Bay to receive Maine under their jurisdiction,* "doing whatever in your wisdom and discretion will be most conducive to the glory of God, the peace and welfare of the inhabitants, and the maintenance of our own just rights and interests." July 4, 1653, Richard Bellingham, Edward Rawson, Brian Pendleton and two other Commissioners, convened the inhabitants of several towns in Maine at the Rev. Joseph Emerson's house, in Wells, and received their submission to Massachusetts.†

He was appointed magistrate at Portsmouth, 1652; served as deputy 1653, '54, '58, '60, '61 and '63; Jan. 13, 1652/3, he was granted 30 acres of land on Great Island; in 1653, he was appointed commissioner of the Island of Shoals; in 1657 he was one of a committee appointed by the General Court to investigate arrears of salaries of the ministers in Norfolk Co., and see that they were provided for; in 1658 and '66 his name appears on list of subscribers for support of a minister at Portsmouth; in 1658 he was appointed commissioner of Portsmouth, and granted 200 acres of land above the township of Dover, N. H., and on Jan. 22, 1660, 350 acres at Portsmouth; in 1663, made overseer of the shipping, "to see that the laws were obeyed;" in 1668 he was magistrate for the County of York.

He is called a captain before leaving Watertown; in 1664 commissioned captain of Portsmouth County; and in 1668, major for Saco, from which, on his own request, he was dismissed Oct. 23, 1672; May 15, 1672, the General Court voted him a remuneration "in answer to his petition" humbly desiring that he may be satisfied for what he had expended in taking and "sending downe Capt. Bonython," for whose arrest a warrant had been issued May 14, 1656, to answer for beating John Stone's servant in 1655, refusing to pay the rates, etc., and "for his abusive letter to the General Court." May 12, 1675, Brian Pendleton, Humphrey Warren and others, are granted a plantation six miles square, above Saco.* Appointed Associate Justice for York, 1675 and '76.

He was at Winter Harbor during the Indian war of 1676, from which place he sent the following letter: †—

James² Avery (*Christopher*¹), born about 1620; married Nov. 10, 1643, Joanna Greenslade, in Gloucester, Mass. Children:

Hannah,³ b. Oct. 12, 1644. James, b. Dec. 16, 1646. Mary, b. Feb. 19, 1648. Thomas, b. May 6, 1651. John, b. Feb. 10, 1653/4. Rebecca, b. Oct. 6, 1656. Jonathan, b. Jan. 5, 1658/9. Christopher, b. April 30, 1661. Samuel, b. Aug. 14, 1664. Joanna, b. —, 1669.

^{*} History of New London County, p. 16.

The Boston First Church Record says: "17. 1 mo., 1644, sister Joan Greenslade, now wife of one James Averill, had granted her a letter of recommendation to the church at Gloster." James Avery was aged 62 years in 1682; made "townsman" of New London in 1660, and continued in that office until 1680. He was ensign, lieutenant and captain of the only train-band in town, and in service through King Philip's war. He was twelve times deputy between 1658 and 1680, and was justice and assistant judge of the County Court. He removed to Poquonuck, east of the river, between 1660 and 1670, and both he and his wife were living there in 1693. In 1685 he deeded to his four sons a house, orchard and other lands "which belonged to my deceased father Christopher Avery." His daughter, whose Christian name has not been found, married William Potts. (See page 56.) He deeded lands, including the homestead farm, to his sons in February, 1693/4. No record of his death has been found.

JEFFREY CHAMPLIN.

EFFREY: CHAMPLIN came to New England in 1638, or earlier, but his English home and parentage, and the date of his birth, have not been discovered. He died in 1695; the name of his wife has not been learned; he is known to have had three children.

Children:

Jeffrey,² b. —, 1652; d. Dec. 1, 1715. 2 William, b. —, 1654.

Christopher, b. -, 1656.

He was admitted an inhabitant of Aquidneck, "24, 11 mo., 1638;" April 28, 1639, he complained of a debt due him and Mr. Aspinwall from William Cowley, and a warrant was granted to attach the latter's shallop. He was made freeman in 1640, and had a land grant of ten acres the same year; he was one of the purchasers of Misquamicutt; was in Westerly, R. I., 1661, and admitted freeman of that town in 1669; he took the oath of allegiance to Rhode Island in 1671; May 20, 1671, he was fined 20 shillings for not attending jury; he was a member of the town council in 1680; was chosen deputy to the General Assembly from Westerly, 1681 to 1686, and was moderator of town meeting in 1680, '81, '82, '83 and '84.

Capt. WILLIAM² CHAMPLIN (Jeffrey¹) was born —, 1654, in Rhode Island; died Dec. 1, 1715; married Mary Babcock, daughter of James¹ and Sarah Babcock; she died in 1747. (See page 33.)

Children:

3 William, b. — ; m. Capt. John Babcock.

Ann, b. — ; m. Jan. 19, 1698/9, Samuel Clarke. (See p. 19.)

He was an inhabitant of Westerly in 1679, and was appointed to levy a tax the same year; was made a freeman in 1681, and the same year a town meeting was held at his house; juryman in 1684; member of the town council, 1684–85; in 1687 he was a member of a committee to present a petition to Sir Edmund Andros for a town charter, and, with another, was chosen to have charge of branding cattle and horses; he was appointed "captain" in 1690, and associated with Joseph Clarke to levy a tax; he was conservator of the peace, 1695; was a member of the committee to settle the bounds between Rhode Island and Connecticut in 1699; deputy from Westerly, 1690, '91, '96, '98, '99, 1700, '03, '05, '06, '08, '10 and '12; he refused election in 1707; was moderator at town meetings, Feb. 14, 1706/7, and June 25, 1707.

At a town meeting held April 7, 1709, he was "voted to have a grant of 100 acres" of land, and was impowered to agree with Ninecraft, sachem, for "a perpetual high road to the salt water from Queens Rhoade;" he petitioned the Assembly in 1712 for a bridge over the Pawcatuck river by contribution, and the same was granted if he would build the highway.

His estate inventoried in 1747, at the death of his widow, £508.

He was made a freeman of Westerly, in 1700, and June 25, 1707, he was chosen "Rattemaker" [i. e. assessor]. His wife "Mary Champlin was baptized, and under laying on of hands was admitted into the [7th day Baptist] church the 10th of the 5th mo. 1708." Jan. 18, 1716, he made an agreement with Mary Champlin, his mother, Capt. John Babcock and Samuel Clarke, and their wives, in which he agreed to maintain his mother as long as she pleased to live with him, to pay her £200 down and £10 annually, and make over to her two beds and other household goods in lieu of her dower; also to pay £100 to brother-in-law John Babcock and wife Mary, and brother-in-law Samuel Clarke and wife Ann.

In 1719, Aug. 1st, the following appears on Westerly Council record: "The Council think it is not necessary to alter Mr. Wm. Champlin's bond respecting debts due from deceased father Capt. Wm. Champlin's Estate." He was chosen deputy to the General Assembly, 1731-2.

His will, dated Aug. 3, 1747, probated Dec. 29, 1747, appoints son William executor, and gives him all estate, he to pay legacies, viz.: to his mother Mary, a bed, mare, two colts, two cows, a negro girl and £200; to brother Joseph, £100; to brother Samuel, 10 shillings, he having had his share; to brother Joshua, £200; to brother James, £100 and a feather bed; to sister Susanna Stanton, £400; he is also bidden to care "for my ancient mother if she outlives me."

The inventory, £821, includes real estate, silver tankard £36; "two years overture" £25; Negro girl Dinah £150; also an Indian girl, 12 years old, "if she belongs to the estate," £40, etc.

THE REV. HENRYS CLARKE

HE REV. HENRY⁵ CLARKE (Joshua,*
Thomas,³ Joseph,² Joseph⁵) was born Dec. 2,
1756, in Hopkinton, R. I.; he died March 22,
1831, in Brookfield, N. Y.; married (1) Dec. 5, 1776, in Hopkinton, Catherine, daughter of Sylvester and Sarah (Champlin) Pendleton, born March 13, 1757, in Westerly, R. I.; died Sept. 4, 1824, in Brookfield; he married (2) June 26, 1825, in Brookfield, Lydia, widow of Elisha Burdick, and daughter of Benjamin and Mary (Saunders) Stillman, born May 6, 1760.

Children, all by first wife, the first seven born in Hop-kinton:

- 2 Henry, 6 b. Dec. 16, 1777.
- 3 Phebe, b. Sept. 28, 1779.
- 4 Sarah (Sally), b. July 25, 1781.
- 5 Oliver Pendleton, b. Mar. 29, 1783;
- 6 John Vilitt, b. April 14, 1785.
- 7 Elizabeth M., b. April 30, 1787.
- 8 Ethan, b. Mar. 30, 1789.
- 9 Welcome Arnold, b. April 25, 1791, in Stonington, R. I.
- 10 Catherine, b. April 17, 1793, in Stonington.
- 11 Joshua, b. July 20, 1795, in Brookfield.
- 12 Samuel Ray, b. Nov. 6, 1800, in Brookfield.

He attended school in Providence, R. I., and boarded at the house of Samuel Ward (Governor of the State 1762 to 1765). Sept. 19, 1776, he signed the "Patriotic Test;" he was operating Ferry's Iron Works* (now Woodville) in the same year, Daniel Babcock being apprenticed to him for seven years. In deeds conveying land, from 1780 to 1785, he is described as "blacksmith." In 1779, he and his wife were baptized.

In 1786, he was a frequent messenger of the church, and Sept. 10, was chosen deacon; but, on June 29, 1787, "desiring to have the choice voted on by more of the church, and 120 being present, he was chosen unanimously:" on July 27, 1789, "The Church being called, unanimously renewed their former choice for Bro. Henry Clarke to be ordained:—first day of the week after next communion appointed for ordination." In the same year, together with George Thurston and Thomas Wells, he built in Hopkinton by a lottery,† a church for the use of the Baptist denomination.

June 3, 1778, he was elected one of the surveyors of highways, and continued in that office several years; he was also appointed the same year to build the stocks. June 1, 1790, he was appointed vendue master. Oct. 18, 1790, it was voted "that this town's [Hopkinton] old Continental Money be sent away to sell by Col. George Thurstone and Henry Clarke, Esq."

He lived in Stonington in 1791 and 1793. Sept. 3, 1793, he was ordained an evangelist. Having previously purchased lands "in New York, in the nineteenth township of the Governor's Purchase, in May, 1795, he removed his family to this lot (No. 92)." . . . "All was a wilderness in its native state, when first purchased at 50 cents per acre."

Oct. 3, 1797, the Sabbatarian church at Brookfield was constituted, and Elder Henry Clarke was chosen pastor; he was ordained Oct. 16, 1797, having accepted the pastorate with the following conditions: "Reserving to the liberty of his own mind to attend to the calls of funerals and occasional visits to other churches, and to relinquish his said charge, in case he should deem it consistent with the word of God and the dictates of his own mind, and that without censure." He held his office for twenty-four years and six months, and until compelled to resign by ill-health.

In the "Fall Meeting" of the Seventh Day Baptist church at Hopkinton, in 1801, "Elder Henry Clarke of Brookfield brought forward a proposition "for propogating our religion in the different parts of the United States by sending out . . . missionaries,"* which only took practical shape in 1820. He published, in 1811, "A History of the Sabbatarians or Seventh Day Baptists in America," and gave notice in the same book of the contemplated publication, the next winter, of "A Scriptural and Reasonable System of Religion," which he had "written some years ago."

INSCRIPTIONS

CLARKE FAMILY BURYING GROUND.

HERE is a family burying ground on the home farm in Brookfield, N. Y., which was the property of the Rev. Henry Clarke from 1797 until his death. Here he and his wife were buried, and numerous interments of his descendants and of members of their families have been made there.

The following inscriptions were carefully copied from the gravestones there by Mr. Albertus Lewis, of Utica, N. Y., son of Ransom and Phebe (Clarke) Lewis (see No. 24). There has been no attempt to make the division into lines identical with the originals, or to follow minutely their spelling and punctuation. The figures at the left of the lines show the family number, under which the person named on the stone may be found.

REV. HENRY CLARKE'S

ADVICE TO HIS CHILDREN, JAN. 13, 1819.

NE of the grandchildren of the Rev. Henry Clarke has preserved the following document, which is from "a copy" made in January, 1874, and endorsed "A Grandfather's Legacy enforced by the memory of his life." It was evidently written near the close of his ministry, on the occasion of some family gathering.

ONCE more in the course of a gracious Providence I have the pleasing satisfaction to see you all together, and it is a strange circumstance that one father and mother should see all their children they ever had (being eleven in number and all but one or two with their companions for life) grown to the age of from eighteen to forty-one years, and all having their perfect shape and mental abilities, which should excite grateful sensation in every heart to the Great Disposer of human events: so it is not likely, considering our age and infirmities with our local situations, that we shall ever enjoy the like privilege in time; it is reasonable therefore that your father should make some observations to you. You will receive it as coming from one ever solicitous for your present and future happiness.

It may be proper here to observe I, by the blessing of God have given each of you what may be called a decent country education, and have advanced to you all to the utmost of my ability in worldly goods, in order for you to live respectably in this world, and no one may expect any further advances so long as I live: in case I have any estate at my decease I have disposed of it by will so as to make you all as equal as I could conveniently do, reference being had to what I have already advanced to individuals, and I hope no one will think after I am gone, I was partial to any one of my children.

In case your honored mother should be left a widow, I trust your good sense and filial affection will incline you to render her every assistance and duty she may need, as she has done much, very much, for each of you. Beware of slighting her in her old age.

Also there is a certain degree of filial affection due among children to each other, more than the rest of the human family, and see that ye fall not out by the way. Remember that a brother offended is hard to be won (Prov. xviii: 19), therefore let no small matter alienate one from another, but consider how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell in unity.

The most of you have professed religion, and I hope that no one of you, my children, is so lost to your greatest good, as to be unconcerned or indifferent about religion. Ever remember the care of the soul is the one thing most needful; therefore in all your getting get wisdom, or reconciliation with God, through our Lord Jesus Christ. But there is a material difference between professing religion and enjoying the comforts of pure religion, and is it not as vain to think we enjoy the comforts of religion, while we do not live a religious life, as it is to think we may be well and healthy in body, without the necessary food for the body; for as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also. (James ii: 26.) Hence living religion embraces the idea of our thoughts, words, and actions of our whole life; for if love to God and love to man is wanting, our hopes are vain. As to our thoughts, let us labor to divest them from the meditation of evil, and think of that that is good in the sight of him that judgeth the thoughts, and never meditate any plan or pursuit but such as you can with propriety ask God to bless you in prosecuting it. As to our words, let them be few, when uttered to God, and never use any about your fellow mortals you would dislike them to use about you in like circumstances, and when you give your word or promise to your neighbor, be sure to fulfill it; for he that wilfully or carelessly falsifies his word, commits many crimes, as dishonoring God, losing his own credit, wounding his conscience and deceiving his neighbor. Therefore, better not promise than to fail of performing.

As to our deeds or actions, it concerns all our conduct as relates to God, our neighbors or ourselves. Some of you are in what is called easy or affluent circumstances, while others of you are indigent and poor in this world. There is no better rule than, as ye would that men should do to you, do you even so to them, and all should remember that all they have and are is God's property; man has nothing he can properly call his own, but his sins. Then let the wealthy not be highminded. Consider who gave you the faculty or ability of mind or body and prospered you in this world. Often read the 16th chapter of St. Luke, and remember that a tenth of all your increases was in the old dispensation (and it is thought all moral duties are still in force in the New Testament) to be dedicated to the Lord, for the support of his worship and his ministering servants (Lev. xxvii: 32 with Numb. xviii: 21); also that thou shalt open thy hand wide to thy poor brother (Deut. xv: 8); that the poor has a claim on the rich or wealthy by the ordinance of God, but not by the poor man's demand, and I could wish my wealthy children to be rich in good works (See 1 Tim. vi: 18). And, as all mortals are naturally inclined to dress and live like the richest, would it not be a virtue for the wealthy to live and dress rather below their ability, for an example to others. And to my poor children, I would observe it is no crime to be poor, if God's providence has so ordered it, and it is much better to beg than to steal.

But you should seriously consider whether it is God's will you should be poor, or whether it is not your improper conduct makes you so. Pride has a direct tendency to make one poor. Perhaps there is not a greater absurdity in the world than for a poor family to pretend to live and dress as the rich does. The Lord is wont to bless and help those that help themselves. Earn your food and raiment and then use it as you please, for Industry, Economy, Prudence and Temperance on one's part are essential to religion, and a competent living in this world. An idle person is like the drone in a beehive which the bees kill off in the fall, lest there should not be sufficient honey for such bees as labor, and it is almost impossible for a lazy person to be a real Christian.

Therefore for your health and wealth rise early, and follow some lawful labor, and never sleep by day-light and burn candles to amuse by night, and never let your outsets overbalance your earnings or incomes; a cent per day saved, even in candles, will pay for a good cow in five years. Dress yourself and family in your own manufacture, and eat and drink sparingly and of such as you have, if but coarse fare, for it is better to long than to loathe, and to the hungry soul coarse fare is good. Eat and drink to live, rather than live to eat and drink, for the drunkard and glutton shall come to poverty, and drowsiness shall clothe a man in rags (Prov. xxiii: 21); hence temperance is essential to happiness here and hereafter. How many shorten their days by high living; and drinking to excess not only destroys health and reason but also their characters, and destroys souls and excludes them from future happiness (I Cor. vi: 10 with Gal. v: 21); in short, if you wish to be happy, here and hereafter, you must raise a standard against the world of intemperance and prodigality, either in drinking, eating or clothing. Alas, how soon a good cow may be spent in drinking spirituous liquors, as also in eating and clothing not for our health, and beyond our abilities for even the giving of alms of others; property is no virtue, and they that eat and drink extravagantly, as they know they can't pay their creditors, become servants, lose their independence, defraud their neighbors and wrong their own souls. Therefore strive to owe no man any thing but love. Depend on no mortal but your own exertions and the blessing of God, for he that waits for dead men's shoes is apt to get a misfit, and often goes barefoot. I therefore commend you to God and the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and give you an inheritance among them that are sanctified. May the good Lord grant you all such a position for the Redeemer's sake. Amen.

ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS.

Page 9. Pedigree B. For "—— Avery" [wife of William Potts and great-great-grandmother of Catherine Pendleton] read Rebecca Avery, b. Oct. 6, 1656; m. Aug. 5, 1678.

Page 22. In No. 3, line 4, for "Babbett" read "Babbitt."

Page 56. In No. 1, third line, for "married a daughter," etc., read, married Aug. 5, 1678, Rebecca, daughter of James and Joanna (Greenslade) Avery, born Oct. 6, 1656.

Page 57. The following additional information concerning this family has been received:—Christopher¹ Avery was born about 1590; he was a resident in Boston in 1658, and in New Loudon, Conn., 1663; he died there March 12, 1670.

James,² son of Christopher, came to Gloucester with his father, and removed to New London, in 1650; he died there April 18, 1700; his wife, Joanna Greenslade, born about 1622, died about 1692; he married a second wife, July, 1698. His eldest daughter, Hannah,³ married Ephraim Minor of New London, and was the mother of Deborah,⁴ who married as his first wife, Capt. Joseph Pendleton (see p. 52); his third daughter, Rebecca,³ married Willam Potts, whose daughter Patience married as his second wife, Capt. Joseph Pendleton (see p. 56).

There are many allusions to the descendants of Christopher Avery, to those of Ephraim Minor, to Col. Pendleton (p. 53), and his lottery, and to the Champlins, Samuel and John (p. 62), in the "Diary of Joshua Hempstead of New London," published 1902, by the New London County Historical Society.

Page 58. The Christian name of the daughter who married William Potts, was Rebecca (see above).

INDEX.

THE numbers against the names refer to the page where the names occur. A name has but a single reference to the page on which it appears, though it may be repeated there; care should therefore be taken to look for such repetition.

Middle names are indicated by initials only [for example, Mary Amelia and Mary Anna are both indexed under Mary A.]; when given in full they show the surname (maiden or otherwise) at the time of marriage. Where the context shows that this surname is the maiden name, it is parenthesized; otherwise the parentheses are omitted.
